Smedley, of this place. His entire life, with the exception of the last three years has been spent here. About three years ago this spring he graduated from the law department of the University of Virginia. Shortly after this he went to the Lone Star State and begun life, as an attorney at Dallas. About eight months ago he moved to Midland, where he believed opportunities were better for a young man than in a crowded city like Dallas. He has won both the confidence and the esteem of the people of that place, and in eight short months comes before the people as a standard bearer of Democracy. He stood high in his classes when in college always studious and spent much of his vacation in improving every opportunity. He went to Texas mentally well equipped, coupled with a sufficiency of pluck and perseverance. This is the beginning of a brilliant career for him, which we trust will not end this side of the gubernatorial chair.

—Mr. Chas. C. Clark, aged 69, died at the home of his son, Mr. W. N. Clark Friday morning at 2 o'clock. His death comes as a surprise to his many friends, while it has been in failing health for several months past it was not thought that his condition was critical. Mr. Clark was one of our most prominent citizens and for many years an active and successful farmer. He was born near Heiema, Mason county and was one of a family of five children, all of whom have preceded him to the grave. He was married when a young man to Miss America Nunn, of this place, the only daughter of the late Esquire Wm. Nunn, who owned large tracts of land in Bourbon and Nicholas counties. They were the parents of four children, two sons, Mr. Wm. Clark, of this place, and Mr. C. C. Clark, Jr., of Paris, two daughters, Mrs. B. F. Dobins, of Mexico, Mo., who died in the autumn of 1888, and Mrs. U. V. W. Darlington, who resides at Parkersburg, Va. Mr. Clark was a cultured gentleman, fascinating in conversation, affable and agreeable to all, with a big heart overflowing with generosity. His wife died in the summer of 1888 and his handsome home was destroyed by fire in Feb., 1889. In the midst of all these and many other misfortunes he bore up bravely and always made his friends happier by having been with him. He united with the Christian church when a young man. For some time he had realized the end was near and gave directions concerning his funeral, which was carried out, selecting his own pallbearers. Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock he was laid to rest on the family lot in the Millersburg cemetery. The simple funeral service consisting of a couple of songs, the reading of the fourteenth chapter of John by Prof. C. G. Fisher and a prayer by Rev. T. W. Watts took place at the grave. Among those present from a distance were Rev. and Mrs. U. V. W. Darlington, Parkersburg, Va., Mr. Ed. Pearce, Lexington; Mr. C. C. Clark and mother, Mrs. Nannie Clark, of North Middletown, his son, C. C. Clark, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Harry James and Mr. T. A. Vimont and Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Clark, Paris.

Jackson's Baby Now Stitt's Baby.

It's all over. The drawing for the baby at the Paris Grand Opera House took place on schedule time Saturday night. Judge Harmon Stitt, who didn't want a baby but did want a lamb, drew the baby. Charley Peddicord, who didn't want a lamb but did want a baby drew the lamb and there you are. You can't please everybody.

The crowd broke all records. Never in the history of the opera house has there ever been seen such a struggling, perspiring mass of humanity. One woman who could get no nearer than the sidewalk and who had accumulated at least seventy-five numbers, went into hysterics when she found she could not get in the theatre. By actual count fourteen hundred tickets were sold and fully three hundred turned away, besides a seething mass of humanity on the sidewalk and in the streets.
